MANY COMPLAINTS ARE HANDED OUT BY TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Two Youths Are Found Guilty of Disturbing the Peace.

Traffic officers have been exceedingly busy throughout Washington township during the past week, a total of twenty-six traffic complaints having been filed with Judge J. A. Silva, of Niles, for various violations of state vehicle ordinances, ranging all the way from speeding, and parking, to failure to make boulevard stops.

Several complaints were taken care of at court on Tuesday afternoon, when a total of approximately $70 was taken in by Judge Silva in fines. The balance of the complaints will be attended to during the week end at court next Tuesday.

Tom Furtado, of Centerville, and Burleigh Estevan, of Hayward, appeared before Judge Silva on a charge of disturbing the peace, and were each fined the sum of $25.

Both defendants appeared at court the previous week, pleading "not guilty" to the charge, and were granted a court trial. The charge grew out of a disturbance at a local dance hall two weeks ago, when Al Nevis, of Newark, was arrested on the same charge. Nevis pleaded guilty last week, and also drew a fine of $25.

NEWARK YOUTH IS BADLY INJURED IN ACCIDENT MONDAY

Driving With His Father When Car Is Hit by Reckless Driver.

George Correia Pine, nine-year-old son of Joseph Correia Pine, of Newark, is lying in the Hayward hospital with a severe scalp wound which may conceal a skull fracture, as the result of an automobile accident Monday evening.

The boy was riding in a car driven by his father when it collided at the intersection of Harder road and the Mount Eden road, near Hayward, with a car driven by John Lucas, said to be a gypsy. Lucas, according to the report of Officer Anthony Enos of the state traffic patrol, failed to stop at the boulevard stop sign on Harder road.

His car was loaded with his large family of children, and his address on the police blotter is given as "the world." The accident occurred about 6 o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Pine, who received a severe cut above the right eye, lodged a charge of reckless driving against Lucas in justice court at Hayward Tuesday morning, and a warrant was issued to Chief of Police Louis J. Silva, of Hayward, for service.

Lucas, who with his family, had been picking apricots on the I. M. Turner place on Mount Eden road, was arrested and lodged in the Hayward jail.

CHURCH WILL HOLD BABY CHRISTENING SERVICES SUNDAY

All members of the Niles Congregational Church are urged by Reverend Brinkmeyer to be present this coming Sunday, when a special baby christening service is to be held. The public is also cordially invited to attend this service, which is one of the Protestant Sacraments, and one of the church rituals.

Several Niles children are to be brought forward for christening, and as this service is the last to be held until the middle of July, Reverend Brinkmeyer anticipates a large congregation.

Church services will be discontinued after next Sunday, and will re-commence the third week in August, but Sunday school will continue to meet in joint session during the period from July 5 to August 16.

IRVINGTON CHURCH WILL HOLD BAPTISM SERVICES SUNDAY

Communion services will be held at the Irvington Community Church on Sunday, June 28, when baptism will be administered to infants, according to announcement made by Pastor John F. Moore.

Opportunity will be given to those desiring to unite with the church to do so at this time. The sermon subject next Sunday will be "Our Supreme Need." All are invited to be present.

VACATIONISTS ENJOY CHARMS OF YOSEMITE

Frank Ferry, apprentice at the Township Register, and Marshall Green, of Niles, who left recently for a two weeks auto tour of the western states, spent Saturday and Sunday at Yosemite. They reported by postcard that they were enjoying good weather and a perfect time. From Yosemite, returned home, arriving in Niles late Wednesday evening, surprising their friends, who did not expect them back until Friday.

SPLENDID SPEAKERS URGE NEED FOR SAFEGUARDING FUTURE STATE PROSPERITY

Strong Examples Quoted at Niles Civic Body Luncheon.

In stressing the vital importance of supporting the marketing and purchasing of California made products in order to insure the future rapid growth and prosperity of this state, Albert G. Burns, managing director of the California State Industries League, and Thomas W. Martin, extension director of the league, together with several of their colleagues, in collaboration with a special committee of the Niles Chamber of Commerce, presented on Tuesday afternoon one of the finest, most interesting and educational programs ever brought before the local civic body.

An overflow attendance responded to the efforts of the committee, a large percentage of the gathering being wives of the members, to whom a special invitation to be present had been extended. Chambers of commerce members from all communities in the township were also present.

Special music had been engaged for the occasion, a stringed trio rendering several exceptionally fine selections, while Albert Vasconcelles, well-known vocalist from Washington Union high school, entertained with two popular numbers.

Talented Speakers.

In opening the meeting, President F. V. Jones first introduced A. Clark, a member of the editorial staff of the San Francisco News, who in company with J. Reid, of radio station KTAB, were present as guests of Mrs. Laura Whipple, of Niles. In responding to the introduction, both men stated that the meeting would be publicized through their respective mediums, and both outlined in general the steps that had been taken by them in supporting the aims of the California State Industries League in urging "Californians to build California."

Mr. Clark also strongly stressed the very important part that women play in the support of their community, their county and their state, inasmuch as the major portion of purchasing powers rested with them, and in this connection urged the formation of a ladies' auxiliary to the local chamber of commerce, and suggested Mrs. Laura Whipple, prominent in Niles civic and social activities for many years, as a logical natural-born leader for such an organization.

Albert G. Burns, managing director of the league, was then called upon by President Jones, and in a very interesting manner, outlined numerous cases where local prosperity could be greatly enhanced and furthered by the support of township, county and state products In his talk, Burns illustrated several examples where eastern made commodities had been purchased in preference to California-made goods, at a sacrifice to both quality and price.

The fact that sixty-nine per cent of California manufacturers do not have a market outside of the state for their products was brought to light by Thomas W. Martin, extension director of the league, who was also called upon for a few words. "Sustain California and Home-Town Payrolls," was the theme of Martin's talk, who stated that millions of dollars daily were being spent out of the state for almost the same goods that were being manufactured and marketed right in California, and which were supporting large payrolls and providing employment for Californians. CHAIN STORE MAY OPEN BRANCH IN NILES

According to reports current during the past week, a branch of Sprouse-Reitz five and ten cent stores may soon be located in the building now occupied by the Hellwig and LaGrave meat market. The building at the corner of Main and I streets, formerly occupied by Hadad's department store, is now undergoing alterations in preparation for its occupancy on the first of the month by the meat market, who are under notice to vacate their present quarters by that time.

Although officials of the Sprouse-Reitz company have not yet been reached for definite information, it is thought that work will commence in the very near future on the rebuilding of the store to suit their requirements.

GOLF ASSOCIATION MAY BE FORMED IN TOWNSHIP

Washington Township may soon have its own public golf course, sponsored and partly supported by a township golf association, if present embryo plans mature, according to latest reports received from those directly concerned with its successful promulgation.

The new association, when formed, will be open for all who are interested in golf, whether they are already players, or whether they are desirous of learning to play and do not have the necessary convenience to do so. Both men and women will be eligible for membership, and all who are interested are requested to get in touch with Jack Williamson, of Niles, who, with several other interested residents of the township, are busy formulating initial steps to be taken.

The first aim of the new association will be to interest some far-sighted property-owner in the township to invest his property in establishing a nine-hole course, for public use, thereby obviating the necessity of traveling many miles to the nearest links. The fact that Washington Township boasted a public golf course would, no doubt, attract many golf fans to this community, resulting in added business throughout the section.

Novices to the game would receive instruction from those who are more adept devotees, and several tournaments would be arranged in order to determine handicaps of members of the association. In due time, a team would be formed to compete with various golf clubs throughout the northern part of the state.

LUCKY WITH ROD AND REEL

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Braun and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Marston Dassell, of Niles, spent the week-end at Mariposa and Calaveras. A visit to the Mariposa fair was enjoyed, and later the men caught their share of speckled beauties.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Shislas and daughter, Virginia, of San Francisco, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ferry, of Niles on Sunday.

ROAD EXTENSION NOW IN HANDS OF PLANNING BOARD

Further Progress Hinges On Decision of Planners at Next Meeting.

Further progress on the proposed extension of First street through to connect with the Alvarado road now hinges upon the approval of the county planning commission, official sanction of the county board of supervisors having been obtained last week following the signing of necessary deeds by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shinn and Mr. and Mrs. D. McDonnell.

No further action to start work on the project can be taken until after the planning commission meets, which will not be until some time during the middle of next month, that body only holding meetings once every four weeks.

However, according to reports received, it is the general consensus of opinion that the extension project will meet with the favor of the county planners, and that work will be well under way by late in July.

Present plans call for the extension to be constructed as far as the limits of the California Nursery company's grounds, and through the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Shinn and Mrs. McDonnell, who recently donated sufficient land for a roadway. Mr. and Mrs. Shinn also signed a deed turning over to the county the balance of the street between First and Second streets, fronting the Veteran's Memorial building.

NEW OWNER TAKES OVER NILES STORE

Bringing twenty-five years' of experience in the jewelry and watch repairing business with him, E. G. Weed announces his purchase this week of the McPherson Jewelry and Stationary store, Main street, Niles, from Mrs. Florence McPherson.

For the past nine years, Mr. Weed has been in complete charge of the jewelry repair department of a large Alameda company, and is thoroughly experienced in all branches of this business. The new owner of this well-known Niles store took over the business on Monday, and announces that his wife will take charge of the stationary department, while he will devote all his attentions to the jewelry and watch repairing side of the business. Mr. Weed has established residence in Niles for his family.

Mr. Weed is on the staff of Maj. Gen. David Barrows of the Fourth Division of the National Guard of California, and is the proud owner of a ten-year service medal with the National Guard.

A cordial invitation to visit him in his store is extended the entire community by Mr. Weed and he wishes to assure all past patrons that prompt and efficient service will be guaranteed.

WHAT A CRIME IN THE NAME OF MUSIC

WE WISH that something could be done about these orchestra leaders. We go to one of the out-of-town theaters to enjoy a program of pictures and music—and what have we? A good reel or two, occasionally at least, interspersed with numbers from the orchestra. Take the Fox Oakland, for instance. A half hundred or so of accomplished musicians make up the orchestra. It strikes up a lively air or a piece full of pathos. The harmony is perfect, each player in perfect accord with every other member. We could enjoy it immensely if it were not for one thing—the orchestra leader!

Waving his baton wildly and going through contortions of body and arms and legs, one might believe reasonably that the average orchestra leader was going through the throes of colic or suffering hallucinations, and instead of aspiring to music leadership, was trying his best to qualify for a Ringling Brothers circus clown.

Up until a few weeks ago, we gave the curly-headed egotist that stamped, and waved, and romped before the accomplished musicians at the Fox Oakland the flowers for surpassing any other orchestra leader we ever saw for making himself an infernal nuisance to those who came to the theater and paid good money to enjoy instrumental and vocal music. But that was a few weeks ago. Now the theater has wished onto the public the greatest clown of them all. Where the previous leader was merely a disgusting egotist who believes himself the synosure of all feminine eyes and the last word in a musical genius, the latest addition to the chain theater concern believes himself all this and more—and to make matters worse his extraordinary conduct before the audience kills completely any possibility of appreciating the pieces that are played. A mind that could follow note and bar with that super-clown performing before their eyes would naturally first have to be trained in the power of concentration with Hindu mystic as teacher and instructor.

We protest. We pay good money now and then to hear music in the big town of Oakland and the metropolis of San Francisco. The public we feel sure, agrees with us that we go there, not to be amused by the strange antics of a man in waving coat-tails and with flying baton, but to hear the best in music. We resent having our attention distracted by clowning. In the name of art, great crimes are being committed, and a music loving public outraged.

With due respect to a long-suffering public, we suggest to theater managements that orchestra leaders, a necessity we grant, be screened from view. Give the ears a break, and the real artistry of the orchestra an opportunity to please the auditors.

If orchestra leaders must paw the air, let them seek solitude in the mountain fastness and there stamp and wave to their heart's content. But do not chain Americans to theater seats to be crucified by super-egotists prancing about a stage in wild abandon.

PUTING OFF PAY DAY

PRESIDENT HOOVER has made a very good suggestion in his plan to suspend all inter-governmental debts, reparations, and relief debts, both principal and interest, for a period of twelve months.

Probably France would make the greatest sacrifice in such an arrangement, though America is by far the greatest creditor nation on earth. But in the case of the United States, the late allies have been paying her practically nothing. Her assets, in this respect, have largely and almost totally been a question of paper value. America, therefore, can lose little by the plan. France, however, we believe, has been wringing the blood out of Germany and actually collecting large sums in reparations. She, it would not be surprising, will be the one to object, and perhaps defeat a move that might, in a measure, ease up the financial strain over the world.

With the exception of America, France has the greatest gold reserve and that country is in a prosperous condition. She owes us vast sums, and has virtually told us that she never intends to pay. In fact, France has intimated that we, on the other hand, are indebted to her for permitting us to save the world "for democracy." But that is not here nor there.

Hoover is to be commended for this true gesture in statesmanship, but whether it is really statesmanship will be judged later by the success attained in amalgamating all the diverse interests and by bringing them into accord with this tenet of internationalism that on the surface appears to be extremely expedient but, in a broader sense, truly humanitarian as well.

INTERESTING DATA IS RELEASED BY CHAIN STORE

Interesting highlights on the financial, economic and social conditions existing in its stores is revealed through a comphehensive survey made by investigators for Safeway Stores, Inc.

This survey reveals that in California:

Out of 3162 employes of the company, ninety-nine per cent were men and nine per cent were women.

Of this number the average residence in California is 10.7 years, only 110 of all the employes having lived in the state less than six months.

The average length of service in all classes is 2.9 years.

Twenty-seven per cent of the families represented on their payroll own their own homes, an indication of the financial stability and dependability of the average Safeway family. Sixty-three per cent own radios. Seventy-two per cent own a car.

A total of 2131 persons, or sixty-seven per cent, pay taxes to the total amount of $96,903 each year, an average of $45.47 per person.

Seventy-five per cent of the employes in California make charitable donations to the total amount of $43,806 each year, an average of $18.28 per contributor. Seventy-five per cent of these gave through community chests.

In the last two statements corporation taxes and donations are not included but if they were, the total would be close to $250,000 last year.

Indicative of interest in local activities the survey revealed that 182 persons, or 5.7 per cent, belong to civic or luncheon clubs, that 1033, or 32 per cent, belong to fraternal organizations and that 2772 persons, or 87 per cent, are personally or through their family affiliated with some church.

In hundreds of instances it was found that Safeway Stores used the entire output of California producers and manufacturers.

Safeway Stores operate in 313 California towns and have chamber of commerce affiliations in 303 of them, or 97 per cent. In the remainder of them there is no chamber of commerce.

These statements are substantiated by evidence, according to the officials of the company, who believe the figures to be conclusive proof that the type of persons employed by Safeway Stores are an asset to the community in which they live and a credit to the institution which employes them.

Tomato Juice vs. Tomato Cocktail

IF you live in the West you drink tomato juice; if you live in the East you drink tomato cocktail. But East or West, if you are modern, you drink tomato juice, for, whether you like the juice plain, chilled and seasoned somewhat; or whether you like it combined with lemon juice, horseradish and perhaps a dash of tobasco sauce—in drinking this appetizing juice you are drinking to your own health.

Ripe Tomatoes Best

Tomatoes are rich in vitamins A, B and C and contain also that elusive vitamin E, found in so few foods, which mysteriously aids in getting the iron out of other foods which we eat. Did you know that it is no longer necessary to strain the juice from your regular canned tomatoes, because owing to the popularity of tomato juice, canners now pack the juice ready-strained? And did you know, also, that the tomatoes' vitamins are not lost in the canning process, but are even more potent than those obtained in some fresh tomatoes, which have been picked green, before the sunshine has had time to fulfill its health-giving mission?

Try serving as an appetizer, a delicious glass of tomato juice—cocktail if you prefer the term—made by mixing two and one-half cups of tomato juice, two teaspoons of malt vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one-half teaspoon of Worcestershire Sauce, ten drops of tobasco sauce and two teaspoons of lemon juice. Chill and serve with long, narrow, crisp crackers toasted with melted cheese over the top, and a dash of paprika.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL RE-OPEN LATE IN AUGUST

H. M. Kibby, member of the faculty at Washington Union High school, has been selected by the school trustees to serve in the capacity as head of the part-time department, and also as co-ordinator of trade and industrial courses. The appointment was made at a recent meeting of the school board.

The entire faculty of Washington Union High school, who served during the past year, have been re-elected to serve for the ensuing twelve months, and according to Albert J. Rathbone, principal, all contracts have been signed and returned by the teachers to the school board. The faculty has been augmented by the addition of Paul Daugherty, who will instruct students in agriculture, a new course to be commenced with the new school year.

The school trustees definitely decided that school will re-open on Monday, August 31. This is a week later than usual, but the many renovations and changes that are now underway at the school necessitate the change.

AGRICULTURE WILL BE NEW COURSE AT WASHINGTON HIGH

Subject to Be Instructed by Paul Daugherty Next Year.

Students at Washington Union High school will be offered the opportunity of taking a course in agriculture when school opens for the fall semester, acording to announcement made this week by Albert J. Rathbone, recently elected principal to succeed E. B. Hodges.

The course, which will include particular attention to local grown products, will be under the expert supervision of Paul Daugherty, who for the past year has been engaged in this phase of educational work at Petaluma High school. Daugherty is a graduate of the University of California Agricultural college, and has devoted his whole career to studying the many phases and questions of agriculture.

The new course will be an optional subject for the students, and it is expected that many will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to thoroughly acquaint themselves with a subject that is so closely allied to the majority.

AMADOR BALL WAS OUTSTANDING FOR BEAUTY, PLEASURE

Last Event of Commencement Week Is Held on Saturday

Every year the graduating class attempts to outdo its predecessors and it can be truly said this year that the class of 1931 of Amador Valley High school outdid all the others.

The class from a scholastic standpoint was equal to any and above others. It presented the school with an annual to which not only the school, but the community around Pleasanton can look upon with pride as an achievement of its future citizens.

In every undertaking the Class of 1931 has made a success. Especially was this true of the senior play and the final event of commencement week—the senior ball.

The ball given last Saturday evening was a success in every sense of the word, and the graduates are to be highly commended for the program arranged.

The decorations of the gymnasium in which the dance was held were of such merit that a professional decorator could have been proud. Many favorable comments were heard on all sides.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY IS ENJOYED BY N. D. G. W.

Members of Betsy Ross parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, Centerville, celebrated the fifth anniversary of the founding of the local parlor with a dinner and musicale at the Garden Room, House of Crane, in Oakland, on Tuesday evening.

The affair, which was reserved for club members only, proved very delightful and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended. The ladies met in Centerville early in the evening, motoring to Oakland, where they found that an advance party had very prettily decorated the tables and room with a profusion of beautiful flowers. Later in the evening, some of the members enjoyed a theater party.

Cellar Champs Propose Alibis

"Oh, hum, somebody had to be last," was the comment of the student who took last place in the shop grades given out by George Patterson at Amador Valley High School.

The final shop grades were revealed as follows:

Safreno, A (88); Gibson, A—(72); Gomes, B plus (60); Bottini, B(58); Lopez, B—(48): Russell, C plus, (28); J. Dolstra, C (10); Kelley, C (6); Perry C—(5); Davis, D plus, (4); Haas, D (0); Viada, D— (—4); Frogg, F plus, (—18); Hanifen, F—(—72).

The following was the comments of the cellar champions:

Viada: "Too busy socially."

Frogg: "I copied poor advice and not books."

Man Arrested On Two-Year-Old Check Charge

After an absence from Pleasanton of two years, Joseph A. Pearsons, employed at the Pleasanton race track, was arrested by Constable A. E. Nervais Wednesday afternoon on a warrant charging him with passing a check without sufficient funds to meet it.

The complaint was sworn to in the Pleasanton Town Court on June 27, 1929, by Joseph Paulo, then employed as a clerk by Jimmy George in his grocery store. Paulo declares that Pearsons gave him the check and upon its presentation at the Livermore branch of the Bank of Italy it was returned with advice that the drawer had no funds in deposit there.

Shorly after the issuance of the warrant Pearsons left the state and went to Tia Juana. Later he removed to Vancouver. A few days ago he came to Pleasanton where his arrest followed.

Pearsons was arraigned before Manley Clark, acting judge of the Town Court in Pleasanton and his hearing was set for Tuesday, June 30. He was taken to the county jail at Oakland in the afternoon by Constable Vervais in default of $1000 bail.

Pleasanton Faculty Has Variety This Year on Summer Vacations

Teachers to Spend Summer in School, at Resorts, and Touring

Faculty of Amador Valley High School has separated to all parts of the state for the two month's vacation period.

R. O. Moyer, principal, will spend his vacation at the home of his sister, Mrs. Edna Machander in Santa Ana. He has accepted a position preparing examination papers to be printed for the Ginn Company.

George Patterson, coach, stated that he will take enough philosophy at the summer course at U. C. to last him for the next few years. For diversion he plans to attend the course in football by Bill Ingram and another on the "Care of Athletes" by Charles Volz. No vacation this year.

Miss Madeline Jacobsen has not definitely decided on what she is going to do. It is the hope of the students that she doesn't decide to learn more philosophy or history.

Mrs. Anita Smith will have her headquarters at Stockton, but expects to go to Dunsmuir, Oregon and down the Redwood highway. If time permits she also plans to follow the coast south into Mexico, taking as her motto " Know your own state first."

Miss Elvira Wollitz will spend two weeks at Clear Lake and then spend three or four weeks on a ranch near Reno.

Miss Elinor Perry plans to take an extended motor trip to the Grand Canyon.

Ed C. Lanphier will work for a master's degree at the University of California.

Reckless Driving Case To Be Tried Tuesday Morning

George Connley Is to Face Court as Result of Accident

George Connley, of Oakland was tried on a charge of reckless driving by Judge Manley Clark in the Pleasanton Township justice court last Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The charge grew out of an accident a month ago on the Pleasanton-Sunol highway when cars driven by Connley and Manuel Frager collided near the Arnaudon vineyard.

Connley appeared for trial last week, but because of the absence of complaining witnesses, and the fact that the case had not been definitely set for trial, the case was continued for one week.

Connley's car is alleged to have made a wide turn at a high rate of speed and rammed into the Frager machine, turning it over and injuring several passengers.

Bairos was a graduate of Amador Valley High School with the class of 1925. He was one of the outstanding students of the class and assisted his classmates in producing the first annual ever published at the local school.

The Pleasanton man was one of five who received the master's degree in electrical engineering. One of the others was from Rome, Italy, and another from London.

Bairos' graduating thesis was "Residual Voltages and Currents in Electric Power Systems." He spent some 500 hours of hard study perfectiing his thesis.

For a few weeks Bairos is making a trip through the southwest, including Las Vagas and the state of Arizona. He will take up duties in the Stanford laboratory upon his return.

ALAMEDA ELKS TO HOLD PICNIC SUNDAY

Alameda Elks are making arrangements to hold their annual picnic at San Ramon Park on Sunday, June 28. San Ramon Park is about eighty rods off the highway near Danville on the Dublin-Walnut Creek road, and consists of several acres of beautiful shade trees.

Al Tofanelli, chairman of the picnic and outing committee, advises that these grounds were selected because they could be reached so easily and quickly; also because they are kept in good condition and afford all the conveniences for a real family picnic. The dance floor is built around the base of a large shade tree that makes outdoor dancing a pleasure.

The committee assisting Tofanelli in formulating plans for this big family affair consists of Eddie Schneider, Charles K. Smith, Walter Anderson, Andy Stewart, Al Gordon, Milt Holmes, Lysle Stern, Leonard Bargones, Roscoe Fenton, Bert Bedford, Morris Victor, Ed Rose, Cyrus Solon and Harry Rowell. Harry Rowell is busy on his ranch near Hayward breaking some ponies and burros so they will be available to take part in some special events that are being scheduled.

San Ramon Park will comfortably accommodate several hundred guests, and the committee is making plans to take care of a capacity crowd on Sunday, June 28. Special attractions will be provided to entertain and take care of the children and to insure a real get-together outing for Elks and their families and friends.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD RECENTLY FOR WARREN BUTTS

The Remains Are Removed to Newman for Interment.

The remains of Warren Butts, 44, who committed suicide in the home of his sister, Mrs. E. A. Brommer, of Pleasanton recently were taken to Newman for burial on Saturday.

Funeral services were conducted at that place on Monday.

Butts had been in business in Healdsburg for a number of years. He suffered many business losses during the past year, it was said, which made him despondent. This was the reason advanced by relatives for his act.

Mr. and Mrs. Butts came to Pleasanton two weeks ago for a short visit with the Brommers. It was said that Butts had apparently begun to place his business worries behind him, and on the day of his suicide he appeared in good spirits.

Much of London's fog is smoke!
Use Gas and keep your city clean

THE famous London fogs are most often nothing but clouds of smoke. And smoke consists of soot, ash, and sulphur compounds.

California cities are eliminating the smoke nuisance by using Gas—the cleanest fuel.

Gas is delivered to you clean and burns clean.

As a result, health-giving rays of sunlight shine down without obstruction. The outside of your home does not need re-painting as often. Soot does not enter your home to cause you to clean house.

If you are proud of your city, help keep it clean by using Gas for cooking, water heating, and house heating.

The local dealers or the P. G. and E. will demonstrate the modern Gas appliances.

Who Reads a Newspaper?

EVERYONE. That is the complete answer to who reads a newspaper. Naturally everyone doesn't read every newspaper, but everyone reads at least one newspaper. The Township Register is read by practically everyone in Washington Township, ninety percent we should say.

The Township Register is printed on one of the highest grades of news print, and the same care is taken with it as with the most expensive job printing order.

Every operation in the making of The Township Register is carried on in our plant located at Main St. The news stories are procured, written, set up and printed right in Niles.

IN THE LAST analysis the real meaning of this is that the advertisers in the Township Register reap a great benefit, for in pleasing our readers with the information of general interest and features, The Township Register becomes a popular publication. A popular publication is read from cover to cover, including the advertisements.

Today's Scripture LESSON

By Rev. John R. Stevenson

My times are in Thy hand.—Ps. xxxi. 15.

Every purpose of the Lord shall be performed.—Jer. li. 29.

I am so glad! It is such rest to know
That Thou hast ordered and appointed all,
And wilt yet order and appoint my lot.
For though so much I cannot understand,
And would not choose, has been, and yet may be,
Thou choosest, Thou performest, Thou my Lord.
This is enough for me.

Advertising Against Depression Is Suggested As Merchants Aid

IN EVERY COMMUNITY people are continually finding themselves in need of one thing or another. Each day finds wants for foods, clothes, luxuries, etcetera, expressing themselves in their lives. It is true that in times of financial depression or "tightness of money" these wants are not satisfied as quickly or with the same freeness as in normal times. Nevertheless, necessity eventually forces the individual to buy the particular item which he finds he needs.

Advertising at such a time is more than ever a benefactor and a necessity. The consistent use of advertising display space at such a time keeps the prospective purchaser informed of the merits of the article in question, and without any qualms he is ready to invest the money which he has available for the purchase.

In times of depression the average individual is far more inclined to "shop around." He quite naturally wants to know what specific article will give him the greatest value for his money, and then he needs to be informed where that article can be purchased. It is the influence of advertising at such a time that gives him the essential factors upon which to determine his choice of selection.

The wise advertiser continues his advertising in spite of a feeling of depression, realizing that he cannot afford to take the chance of being forgotten by the public. The consumer, knowing full well what advertising means in protecting him in his purchase, watches it with even closer scrutiny than at times when money is "easy."

TIME TO DRINK

IT'S time to fill the glasses again. Whether your scene is set out on the terraced gardens of your Estate-by-the-Sea, whether it's a roof up with the stars looking down on the Work-a-day-World, or whether it's just an engaging nook in your tiny apartment looking out over a window-box of red geraniums—it's high time to bring out the tall glasses and pour some tall drinks.

And such a dazzling list of new things in glasses for this season's hostess to add to her repertoire! For each season brings its new drinks, while the drinks of yesteryear "fold their tents like the Arabs." Settings for serving the summer drink are novel and alluring too. For the sun-room, low wicker chairs and a table no higher than the average coffee table, a sheer organdie table cover in pastel shades, crystal in lovely orchid, wild rose, or cerulean blue; for the garden, gaily-painted metal table and chairs and perhaps a cloth of interesting peasant ancestry.

Glorified Ice Tea

Even ice-cubes have gone modern this year, and instead of ice that looks like ice, we shall see blocks of ruby-red and emerald-green floating about in our ice tea. For ice tea, of course, remains—even in a fickle era of drinks. To make the new ice-cubes, simply pour fruit coloring—and flavoring, too, if you like—in your ice-cube tray. A glorified ice tea floats cubes of raspberry color and flavor, and a new rickey retains its mint in green colored and flavored cubes.

A very tricky way of imbibing summer beverages, and one which has a future, especially with the younger set who like to linger over the glasses between tennis sets, is to use sticks of lemon candy, instead of straws. A limeade, for example, through a lemon stick is something to become truly meditative over.

And for that "bite" that goes with the drinks, arrayed on generous glass platters matching the glasses, try some unusual open-face sandwiches cut in crescent and diamond shapes. Golden cheese, a bit snappy, on toasted muffins or bread slices sautéed, topped with a stuffed olive; creamy white cheese with criss-cross strips of red pimiento on wholewheat fingers; anchovies curled around egg slices and embedded in mayonnaise on toast triangles—these are the tid-bits that invite "just one more drink" and merrily prolong the party.

For your approval, these are some of the recent arrivals among drinks:

Havana Special: Mix the contents of one 10-ounce can of grapefruit juice with one cup of pineapple syrup; add one-fourth cup of sugar and one cup of water which have been boiled together and then cooled. Chill. Add one bottle of white rock, and serve ice-cold in punch glasses.

Four Fruit Fizz: Have the following ingredients ice-cold; the juice from one No. 3 can of fresh prunes, one cup of pineapple syrup, one cup of orange juice, one-fourth cup of lemon juice and two bottles of charged water. Mix all together and serve over cracked ice.

Punches with a "Punch"

Cherry Rickey: Boil one-fourth cup of sugar with one cup of water; cool. Add the following: one 8-ounce can of grapefruit juice, juice from one No. 2 can of sour, pitted cherries, one-fourth cup of maraschino cherry juice. Add one bottle of White Rock and serve ice cold. (The grapefruit and cherries which are left will make a delicious fruit salad on hearts of lettuce with French dressing.)

Coffee Punch: Mix one cup of strong coffee, one cup of orange juice and the juice from one can of grapefruit and one cup of maple syrup. Chill. Just before serving add one quart of ginger ale and two cups of heavy cream. This makes almost three quarts.

Sour Cherry Cordial: Simmer one cup of sugar and one cup of water to make a syrup. Add two cups of tea, one cup of orange juice and one-half cup of lime juice. Press the contents of a No. 2 can of red pitted cherries through a sieve, and use both the cherry pulp and juice. Just before serving, add one quart of ginger ale. This makes almost three quarts.*

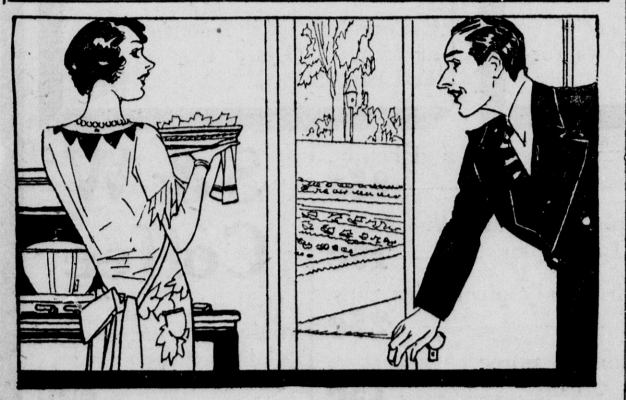
Fresh Garden Things and New Ways to Cook Them



By CAROLINE B. KING

I DON'T know of anything that has a greater power to thrill me than the sight of green peas and tender lettuce maturing in the garden. How anxiously I wait the day when the first "mess" is ready for the table, and how eggerly I gather and prepare the delicious succulent things.

Vegetable dinners are becoming more and more popular as housewives are learning the deliciousness of fresh garden vegetables. Most women now know that it is a mistake to over-cook any green vegetable, or to cook it in too great a quantity of water if the fresh flavor and all the vital qualities with which our good green vegetables are blessed are to be preserved—an open kettle, just enough slightly salted water to cover and a short cooking period are required.

Salt added to the water in which green vegetables are cooked sets their delicate color; a few drops of lemon juice added to the water when cauliflower or white turnips or celery is being cooked prevents the vegetable from darkening and a tablespoonful of vinegar will intensify the red of beets or the gold of carrots.

Lettuce and chicory are usually served as salads, but they are both very tasty when cooked lightly and dressed with a cream sauce in real French fashion.

Minted Carrots are delicious additions to a vegetable dinner. Wash clean and scrape lightly eight to ten young garden carrots. Cut them in inch pieces and boil till just tender in a small quantity of water. Drain and add 4 tablespoonsful of vinegar, 2 tablespoonsful of sugar, 1 tablespoonful of butter and a sprig or two of fresh mint. Cook gently five minutes, remove the mint before serving.

New Peas with Bacon may be served as the main dish for dinner. Shell and cook fresh garden peas in as little water as possible, adding ½ tablespoonful of salt. Drain and cover with a nicely seasoned cream sauce. Meantime cut six to eight slices of bacon in small pieces, fry crisply, drain and sprinkle over the peas. Serve at once.

String Beans au Gratin are extremely good. If the beans are gathered while still young they will be very tender and stringless. Wash and prepare them in the usual way and cut in half inch pieces, boil in salted water, till almost tender, then drain and arrange in a baking dish in layers, seasoning each layer well, and covering with grated cheese. Top with bits of butter and pour two or three tablespoonsful of rich milk or cream into the dish. Bake to a delicate brown and serve in the same dish. For variety a little grated onion may be added.

Dangerous Cargo

Rice has to be elaborately stowed on shipboard, pierced by trunkways, raised from the hold bottom on dunnage wood, and under all circumstances kept watertight, even though the ship is awash with heavy seas on every deck. What is going to happen to 5,000 tons of rice in a closed compartment once it gets wet is fairly obvious!

That Rose Chiffon Frock

By LILLIACE M. MITCHELL

She had carefully looked at all of the other passengers when they had left the city. Perhaps, she hoped, George Taylor would go on the same train. Surely he would not miss this fifth annual reunion of her class at the Windemere high school! But no George was in sight.

In their school days, Delia and Eleanora had been inseparable companions. Delia had invited her to stay at her home for the reunion and Eleanora looked forward eagerly to half-the-night talks in the old parsonage.

"Did you see George?" was almost Delia's first word.

Eleanora tried to keep her voice steady and her cheeks from coloring: "Why no. Did he come?"

"Did he come!" echoed Delia. dimples dancing in and out of her cheeks. "Oh, did he come! And how! In a car that would just make your mouth water. He's been making his pile."

Eleanora's mind ran swiftly to her suitcase that was empty save for the rose chiffon dress that had cost her sixty-nine and a half the day before. No matter how well-to-do George might be, that rose chiffon would match him.

"If the banquet's going to be at half-past six, as usual," Eleanora said, flushing, "we'd better start dressing."

"I'll help you get ready," Delia said. "I'm—not going."

"Not going?" demanded Eleanora. "And you the secretary of the class? Why not?"

"Because I haven't a rag to wear," simply answered Delia. "I sent my one and only pretty dress to the cleaner, and it shrank so much that I can't get into it."

"You'll wear the rose chiffon I bought," said Eleanora.

Back and forth they argued the matter.

"Whether you wear it or don't," said Eleanora firmly, "I am going right in this blue ensemble. Entirely suitable, since I just came in on the train, whereas you—right in town—would have to wear a fluffy affair. Matt's going to be here tonight?"

Delia in turn flushed and nodded. When nothing more was said, Eleanora understood well enough that Matt had not said the words that Delia had longed to hear. Eleanora scowled. She hadn't seen George for five years, and had heard from him in only occasional letters. Delia had seen Matt almost every day.

Old Professor Myers was still to give his long talk of the evening when Delia slipped up to Eleanora with shining eyes. "Matt—Matt said he never knew I was so pretty—" she whispered, "and he—he—oh, Eleanora! He—"

"Eleanora," came George's voice interrupting, "I've got to leave again tonight and I'll have no other chance to talk to you. Will you drive down to the river bridge with me?"

In the luxurious little four-passenger car, George talked swiftly. Eleanora looked at the car. Expensive, beautiful, comfortable.

"I'm not going to mince matters with you, Ellie," he said, when he had pulled the car up in a moonlighted patch of grass at the side of the river bridge. "They all think back there," he went on with a nod toward the town, "that I'm a rich man. I'm not," he continued with a short laugh. "I've some good clothes and this car and a few hundred in the bank. In real estate, a fellow has to be well-dressed and he has to have a good car to take out his prospects. And—and—Ellie—are you going to marry me anyway, even if I haven't anything to offer you?"

Eleanora stared at him.

"I've enough to start the furniture and I have a dandy little house in view for us. I—I took an option on it earlier in the week so that if you liked it—I would have made a down payment, only I thought if you were dressed wonderfully and had made a wad of money in the city, it would be useless to ask you—"

"And if I had worn a beautiful gown—" said Eleanora.

He laughed. "Well, figure it out for yourself! If you'd been frilled out like Delia, for instance. I couldn't afford gowns like that. In a few years, yes. But why waste all of your youth, Ellie—what say, Ellie?"

"And if I'd worn that rose chiffon that Delia is wearing!" Eleanora kept saying over and over again when his arms were around her so tightly that she could hardly catch her breath. "Why, Matt asked her to marry him because she wore that dress!"

"Well, Matt's in the bank," laughed George. "And if you want to get married tonight—Chesswell will fix up a license for us and Delia's father's a preacher—we could drive right through tonight and be—home in the morning, Ellie. The house—oh, you'll like it, Ellie—"

"I'd like any house—with you," said Ellie, her mind's eye still dwelling on that rose chiffon frock. "And if Chesswell—"

"I told him I'd probably be around," said George, stepping on the starter and snapping on the lights. "He's waiting for us."

The First Spring Vegetables

By CAROLINE B. KING

NOT so long ago but that most of us can at least remember hearing of it, the spring was ushered in by a course of sulphur and molasses, sassafras tea, slippery elm bitters or some other unpleasant mixture, regarded by grandmothers and mothers of those days as necessary potions for purifying the blood and eliminating the poisons accumulated in the body through the long, hard, unhealthy winter season. Nature must be assisted in her spring cleansing of the system, thought these worthy ancestors of ours, and it was through such concoctions that they essayed to give her their aid.

How different are things today! In place of the drugs and the bitters and the distasteful doses so popular with our grandparents, we modern housewives rely upon fresh green vegetables for our regulators and our tonics. Where they resorted to the drug store or the herb-woman, we go to our gardens and from their abundance derive health and zest and good nature. The sunshine and the soil and the fresh air have furnished our green garden things with all the qualities the body requires, and when we prepare a tasty vegetable dinner for our families, we may rest assured that the results of our efforts will be far more efficacious and lasting than were those that followed grandmother's spring tonics.

It is well to remember, that every one requires certain changes in diet as the spring approaches—both from the standpoint of appetite and of health. The palate turns with distaste from the heavy meals of the cold weather, and demands something more delicate, more piquant, more appealing. This is Nature's way of demonstrating to us that iron, or phosphorus, or lime, or some other quality not present in our winter foods is necessary, if we are to keep alert and strong and well.

The first spring vegetables supply all these and more—asparagus, cress, lettuce, radishes, early cabbage, beet tops, spinach, green onions, are all splendid sources of minerals. Rhubarb, too, is excellent—serve it simply stewed or baked for breakfast and make it into some delicious tempting dessert for dinner. As for the vegetables, here are several new and especially appetizing ways for preparing them.

Asparagus in Brown Sauce: Shred 4 slices of breakfast bacon, and fry until crisp. Wash and cook one bunch of asparagus in salt water until tender. Drain a cupful of the liquid from the asparagus onto the bacon. Add ½ small onion diced very fine, 2 tablespoonsful of vinegar, ½ teaspoonful of salt and ½ teaspoonful of paprika. Mix well and add the asparagus carefully. Cover skillet long enough to heat the asparagus thoroughly. Serve hot.

Spring Lunch Sandwich: Three slices of wholewheat bread are required for each sandwich. Butter one slice and on it spread a layer of cream cheese and cover generously with grated carrot. Place a second slice of bread and spread with chopped water cress which has been mixed generously with mayonnaise. Butter the third slice and place it buttered side down. Serve on a plate garnished with red radishes.

Spring Vegetable Shortcake. Make large round baking powder biscuits and bake lightly, then split, butter well and spread the lower halves with creamed asparagus tips, creamed peas, or carrots and peas creamed together, or any other delicate green vegetable dressed in cream sauce. Put the tops on the biscuits, crust down, butter and spread with the creamed vegetable. Sprinkle with paprika and serve hot.

NEWARK SCHOOL HOLDS GRADUATION PROGRAM FRIDAY

During the past year the school has averaged a daily attendance of 225 pupils, which is the highest mark yet established since the school was first founded. As a result of this high attendance mark, the school is now entitled to add one more teacher to the faculty next term.

Antone Andrade Is Sentenced To 30 Days In Jail

Pleasanton Man Enters Plea of Guilty to Charge of Vagrancy

Antone Andrade was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Judge Manley Clark in the Pleasanton town court on Tuesday morning after the defendant pleaded guilty to vagrancy.

He was taken to the county jail Tuesday afternoon by Chief Davis.

ATTORNEY'S MOTHER PASSES AWAY IN OAKLAND LAST WEEK

Funeral Services for Mrs. Sophie Nilson Are Held on Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Sophie Nilson, mother of Walter T. Nilson, Pleasanton town attorney, were conducted in Oakland Wednesday afternoon. Interment was made in an Oakland cemetery.

Besides her son Walter Nilson, of Pleasanton, she is survived by her husband, B. Nilson, three daughters, Sophie, Blanche and Alice Nilson, of Oakland, and another son, Edwin Nilson, of Long Beach.

Pleasanton May Have Rooms To Rent Soon

If Pleasanton council could be prevailed upon to install a radio and chesterfield set in the new jail, there would be no trouble renting it, according to Police Chief Wm. T. Davis.

The new bastille has received a fresh coat of paint inside and out. The interior decorations are carried out in black and cream, with the outside being red and cream.

All modern conveniences from automatic heat control to built-in dining and sleeping accomodations are to be found in the jail. Add the newly applied interior decorations and the town finds itself with three apartments of first class order.

It doesn't appear, however, as if the Pleasanton town board is going to go into the "apartments for rent'" business.
